BISHOP GALLOWAY DIES AT JACKSON FROM PNEUMONIA

"Foreign Minister of Methodist Church, South," is No More.

Great Educational Leader and Reformer.

YOUNGEST BISHOP ELECTED.

Jackson, Miss., May 12.—Bishop Charles B. Galloway, bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, and one of the most distinguished churchmen in the United States, died at 5 o'clock this morning.

Bishop Charles Betts Galloway, one of the general superintendents of the Methodist Episcopal church south, was born in Koculsko, Miss., September 1, 1849. After attending the common schools he graduated with distinction from the University of Mississippi. He was then scarcely 18 years of age, and had even before this begun preparation for entrance into the Christian ministry, which high office he has long adorned with an almost unexampled devotion of service and eloquence of message.

In 1868, soon after his graduation, he entered the Mississippi conference in which affiliation he remained until elevated to the higher office of the episcopacy.

As a member of the Mississippi conference Bishop Galloway served a number of appointments, including Port Gibson, Yazoo City, Jackson and Vicksburg. While pastor at the last named place he was exposed, in 1878, to the great epidemic of yellow fever, which in that year ravaged the entire Mississippi valley. He was himself stricken, after weeks of visitation among the sick and dying, but he rallied miraculously to live thirty wonderful and active years.

In 1882 he was elected editor of the New Orleans Christian Advocate, then a paper of wide and influential circulation. For four years he sat on the tripod, and during those years his fame extended to every part of the church. When the general conference of 1886 came on he was elected bishop by a remarkable vote, being but thirty-seven years of age, the youngest man ever elected to that office in the southern church.

Was Foreign Minister.

Bishop Galloway fairly won the distinction, worn by Dr. Coke, the bishop of the church, that of being styled "The Foreign Minister of Methodism." He was sent more frequently abroad than any other bishop of the church and served in all these capacities with such effectiveness and ability as to make him not only the best known, but also the most influential personality in Universal Methodism. In Canada, in England, in Ireland, in the Orient repeatedly, and in South America he visited officially as the bishop and head of the church, and everywhere left the impression of his great personality and the memory of his incomparable power as a preacher and public teacher.

He opened the great ecumenical conference in the City Road chapel in London in 1901, with a sermon, the power and eloquence of which was echoed to all lands where Methodism had adherents. It is still a pulp classic among the people called Methodists.

Bishop Galloway had for years been president of the board of education of the Methodist Episcopal church south, and president also of the board of trust of Vanderbilt University, and a trustee of the Slater fund. He was the originator of the plan for a great Methodist college in Mississippi, which resulted in what is now the richly endowed Millsaps college at Jackson. Much of the bishop's time and great talents were given to the promotion of the cause of education.

The great civic and reform movements of his state and the country at large felt the impulse of his adhesion and advocacy. He was president of the Mississippi Prohibition association, and the elective system of prohibition laws now in operation in Mississippi is largely the result of his wise advice.

A Distinguished Author.

As an author Bishop Galloway achieved no little distinction, though it was as the preacher and orator that he excelled. As a writer, on varied and timely subjects, he commanded a wide reading and his works always carefully weighed.

One of his latest magazine articles was "Jefferson Davis—A Judicial Estimate," which attracted continental-wide attention because of its strong defense of the chieftain of the Confederacy and the unqualified encomiums passed upon his memory.

Bishop Galloway was married in

MIGHTY HUNTER.

Nairobi, May 12.—Two giraffes, a leopard and a buffalo were killed, and two leopard cubs captured as the latest additions to Roosevelt's hunting trophies, according to messages from Mackakos today. The giraffes were shot late yesterday. One giraffe was shot at a distance of 400 feet, while it was galloping at full speed. The shot is declared the best Roosevelt has made.

Robert Phillips and Finis Lack states that the patent hosiery mill machinery, invented by Paducah man and to be manufactured by them, has met with great success at the convention of textile manufacturers at Philadelphia this week. ### DRAIN QUESTION BEFORE COUNCIL AND MAGISTRATES

City Engineer Washington will take levels and make an estimate of the cost of draining the northwestern section of the city into Perkins' creek, through a route selected by the sanitation committee of the general council and County Judge Lightfoot yesterday, and then the general council and fiscal court will consider the feasibility of constructing the drain.

The party, which inspected the route yesterday in automobiles, consisted of Mayor Smith, County Judge Lightfoot, City Engineer Washington, Alderman Stewart and Councilmen Wilson and Wanner and Mr. Lindsey.

The territory, that requires draining, embraces Oak Grove cemetery and the regions lying beyond it. A great deal of valuable land would be redeemed, and a cause of sickness removed by the project.

A natural depression about a quarter of a mile west of Oak Grove was located as the best route. It extends directly into Perkins' creek. All the gentlemen appreciated the necessity of the work, when they viewed the land, and it was decided that Mr. Washington should prepare estimates, so that the city and county would know what they were doing.

1869 to Miss Hattie E. Willis, of Vicksburg, Miss. Three daughters and two sons blessed their wedded life, of whom all survive, except the eldest son.

Bishop Galloway was in attendance upon the meeting of the board of bishops at Nashville last week, and took some part in the work of the session, but it was seen by all that his end was near. On Thursday, after dining with two of his life-long friends, he suffered a collapse and had to be helped to his room. He left Nashville on Thursday night in the care of a traveling companion, and the news of his fatal illness, while a great shock to his friends and the church public, was not unexpected.

LINEMAN HEFLIN MEETS DEATH ON TELEPHONE POLE

Failed to Fasten Belt and When He Leaned Back He Fell to Ground.

Paducah Boy Killed at Decker, Tenn.

RESIDED ON MAYFIELD ROAD

Decker, Tenn., May 12. (Special.)—By a fall from a telephone pole, William Hefflin, a lineman from Paducah, Ky., was instantly killed this morning. Hefflin was working for the East Tennessee Telephone company at Decker, which is about 80 miles south of Nashville. Hefflin fell from the pole, and it is thought that his neck was broken, as he was dead when companions, who were standing only a few feet away, reached him.

Hefflin climbed a pole and when he reached the top placed his belt around the pole and thought that he snapped it on the ring to the belt. Instead he snapped it on a tool, which he had placed in his belt, and when he leaned back the belt gave way and he fell backward to the ground.

Hefflin was 20 years old and resided on the Mayfield road near Champy's bridge, which is about five miles from Paducah. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Hefflin, are living. Hefflin was a young man and was known in the county. He worked for the telephone company for several months. His body will reach Paducah early tomorrow morning and the burial probably will take place tomorrow afternoon in the county.

He is survived by Misses Johnny and Lottie Hefflin, and three brothers: Givens, Raymond and Fred Hefflin. The funeral will take place tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. The burial will be in the Harper cemetery at Boaz station.

Lorimer Candidate

Springfield, Ill., May 12.—Congressman Lorimer is a candidate for senator. Governor Deneen still clings to Hopkins. Another effort will be made to elect Shurtleff in case Lorimer fails.

Hains Apathetic

New York, May 12.—The conviction of manslaughter in the first degree hasn't altered the apathetic attitude of Captain Hains. He spent a quiet night. He expressed no concern today as to the verdict. Counsel for the defense is preparing a motion for a new trial.

Prohis Lose

Jefferson City, Mo., May 12.—The senate today refused to recede from its position on the amendments to the prohibition amendment. A conference committee will be named, but it is believed the prohibition movement this session is killed.

Mr. Donovan Honored

Mr. John T. Donovan has been re-elected state deputy of the Knights of Columbus at Owensboro, where the annual meeting was held. The election of Mr. Donovan was quite an honor, as this is his second term, and there were a number of possible candidates for the highest office in the state of the lodge. Paducah was represented at the meeting by Mr. Donovan, Fred Flanagan and Col. John J. Dorlan.

WEATHER.

Fair and warmer tonight, Thursday partly cloudy and cooler Thursday night. Highest temperature yesterday, 67; lowest today, 53.

JOY; THEN DEATH.

Columbus, Ohio, May 12.—While rushing across the railroad tracks at the Pennsylvania station to greet her son Ralph, just paroled from the Indiana penitentiary, where he was serving a life term for murder, Mrs. Emma Drake, 70 years old, was run down and killed here. She didn't see the train approaching on another track. The son was overcome by the accident.

Harry Rearden's Funeral.

The body of Engineer Harry Rearden, who drowned on the steamer Concrete Sunday afternoon, May 2, and who was found floating in the Cumberland river last Sunday morning, will be taken to Shawneetown this evening on the steamer Joe Fowler. The funeral and burial will be held tomorrow afternoon.

STRIKE AT PARIS TIES MAIL LINES AND TELEGRAPH

Paris, May 12.—Paris today is feeling the grip of the postmen's and telegraphers' strike, declared last night. By night the strike leaders say they will have effected a complete cessation of mail and telegraph service with the exception of the government's wireless between England and France. The government today is investigating a report that English postal employees promised French postmen financial aid in the strike. If the report is true the government will make a protest to England.

The strike situation took a decided turn for worse this afternoon and troops surrounding the postoffice building, were reinforced by cavalry and police reserves, under the strictest orders to quell any outbreak. It is feared there will be a serious outbreak tonight. Many foreigners left today for Brussels and other cities to escape dangers believed to be inevitable.

An account of the postmen's and telegraphers' strike, the government announced this afternoon, it would probably stop the railway mail service and rely on automobile service. Hundreds of big automobiles will be run with soldiers as chauffeurs. Wireless communication between the station on the Eiffel Tower and war vessels in the various harbors or coast towns has been successfully maintained all day though the strikers say they have a way of interrupting wireless messages.

Funeral of Albert Pfyster.

The funeral of Albert Pfyster was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the St. Francis de Sales church. The burial was in the Mt. Carmel cemetery. Pfyster died at Riverside hospital last Saturday night. He was a native of Switzerland. Theodore Pfyster and Albert Schriber, nephews of Chicago, are in the city and attended the funeral this afternoon.

NEW FERRYBOAT WILL BE BOUGHT BY NEW OWNERS

Charles L. Robertson and Captain J. E. Rollins have purchased the ferryboat Bettie Owen, including the franchise and rights of the company from the Owen brothers. The ferry has been operated by the Messrs. Owen about 65 years. The new owners took charge of the boat this afternoon and announced that they will improve the service, and within the next six months expect to build a new ferryboat of modern design. The new boat will be 160 feet long by 50 feet wide and will be one of the best on the Ohio river. The service will be improved also, as the new owners contemplate running the boat to Livingston's point so that the farmers of Livingston county will be able to reach Paducah with their products easily. With the new boat quicker time will be made, and the residents along the Ohio river between Brookport, Ill., and Livingston's point will be given good ferry service.

SCHOOL BOARD OF COUNTY MEETS TO TALK BUILDINGS

Construction of High School Will be Left Till Last Thing.

Judge Lightfoot Advocates Concrete Blocks.

OTHER COUNTIES ECONOMIZE

Thorough examination of the benefits of the construction of concrete blocks will be made by the county school board, before a contract is placed for the erection of the county high school at Heath. The board will discuss the high school thoroughly for the last, and will clear away all other business before. The question of material for the high school will be reached late this afternoon or tomorrow morning.

This morning County Judge R. T. Lightfoot appeared before the board and made a short talk on the advantage of building the county high school of concrete. Judge Lightfoot estimates that by the county building the school building about $2,500 can be saved. Gravel and sand are within easy reach of Heath, and the residents have agreed to do all the hauling free of charge, so that some of the incidental expenses of the erecting the school are eliminated.

At a rough estimate Judge Lightfoot says that the school can be erected for $3,600, allowing $2,600 for the concrete work. Judge Lightfoot, who in addition to his official capacity as county judge, is interested in the manufacture of concrete blocks, said to the school board that he would be pleased to give to the board his experience in erecting the school. Bert Johnson, former county road supervisor, was present at the meeting, and he estimated

VAULT IN OFFICE AT COUNTY COURT NOT VERY SECURE

Fearing that the vault in the county judge's office at the county court house will not be safe to deposit money over night, Sheriff John V. Ogilvie will try and have the order to remove his office to the court house rescinded. The order was passed at the last session of fiscal court and was done as a step of economy, as there is a suite of rooms vacant at the court house. At present the county pays the rent of the sheriff's office, and the members of the court were seeking to avoid this extra expense by removing the office to the court house until next January.

The offices have been vacant since County Judge Lightfoot left the court house, and probably will remain so until January, when the new county judge will take office. County Attorney Alben Barkley, who has the Democratic nomination for county judge, has said that he will use the office if he is elected. Sheriff Ogilvie considers it a bad move to change the office for such a short time.

In speaking of the order Sheriff Ogilvie said: "The vault in the office is constructed of brick without a steel lining, and it would be easy for a thief to break into it. Sometimes during the rush of collecting taxes I have been collected after banking hours, stored in my vault for the night. At present the office is located in the business district, has full police protection, and is located next to a telephone exchange, and any possible tampering with the vault would be heard by the telephone operators and the alarm could be given.

"Besides being of weak construction, the office at the court house is located remote from residences and a burglar could work on the vault without any danger of being discovered unless he wrecked the vault with dynamite, and then he might muffle the explosion and get away before the general alarm could be given. I have talked with the county officials and some of the members of the fiscal court, and I believe that the order will be rescinded and the office will be left where it is.

"An additional disadvantage would be that the county would be at an expense to fit up the office and next month the collection of county and state taxes begins. We will be too busy to move, and to change the office would cause inconvenience to a large number of tax payers who have learned where the sheriff's office is."

Three Months Dash For Buzz-Buggies and Cash Makes Short Hot Clash

Nine Newspapers Will Distribute More Than Sixty Prizes Among the Popular People of West Kentucky.

CONTEST STARTS TODAY AND WILL CLOSE TWELVE WEEKS HENCE, AUGUST 4.

Ten Districts With a Lot of Prizes for Each--

Read the Details of the Game Below.

It is with feelings of the deepest gratification that the Evening Sun today announces the inauguration of the greatest popularity voting contest ever attempted in western Kentucky and perhaps within the boundaries of the Blue Grass state. While other papers in all sections of the state have been offering "premiums" and trips abroad (some of them as far away as Mammoth Cave) for the purpose of increasing circulation, the Sun has been content and has consistently stuck to the policy of giving its readers the very best possible value for their money, until it could do something that it felt would be in keeping with its reputation for doing big things on a big scale, and something that would, in a measure, compensate its friends and readers for their loyal support.

The Evening Sun is going to give away, within the next twelve weeks, over $8,000 worth of valuable, desirable and useful prizes in a search for the most popular people in about a dozen counties of this section of the state. Sounds big, doesn't it? But that is exactly what this paper is going to do. And this is all because the Sun is determined to increase its present circulation, which is already larger than that of any other Kentucky newspaper published west of Louisville.

Over $1,000 worth of prizes will be given away in McCracken county alone. These prizes, of course, are exclusive of the grand prizes. Really, there are so many prizes and they are distributed with so much profusion and lavishness that it is rather hard to judge just where to begin to describe them.

But, at any rate, here is what The Sun has done: It has divided some west Kentucky counties into districts. For instance there is Ballard, Carlisle, Hickman, Fulton, Graves, Marshall, Livingston, Calloway and Caldwell counties constitute one district, but all the other counties are separate and distinct districts in themselves. Into each district five magnificent prizes will go. The prizes have been purchased, all arrangements made and they must go there.

Five Prizes Absolutely Must Go Into Each District.

McCracken has been divided into two districts and these two carry over $1,000 worth of prizes. District No. 1 is composed of all that territory north of Broadway beginning at the Ohio river, extending to the Blandville road and on the Blandville road to the county line. District No. 2 is composed of all that territory south of that line and within McCracken county.

In each of the counties comprising the other districts The Sun is associated with the live, aggressive, up-to-now newspapers for the purpose of increasing the circulation of these papers as well as this one. At the end of this gigantic subscription contest, which will be the means of proving the popularity of more than fifty people in west Kentucky, prizes valued at over $5,000 will be awarded.

For the details of this great contest read the rules and regulations printed below. A perusal of this matter will tell you how to win one of the grand prizes offered by a newspaper to its patrons.

Rules of the Contest.

For the purpose of determining who are the most popular persons in West Kentucky, the following newspapers are associated in the conduct of "The Paducah Evening Sun and Associate Newspapers' Great Voting Contest," the territory being divided into districts as indicated:

- District No. 1. McCracken County north of Broadway and the Blandville Road.
- District No. 2. McCracken County south of Broadway and the Blandville Road.
- District No. 3. Ballard county—Ballard, Yeoman and The Sun.
- District No. 4. Carlisle and Hickman counties—Arlington Courier and The Sun.
- District No. 5. Fulton county—Fulton Leader and The Sun.
- District No. 6. Graves county—The Sun.
- District No. 7. Livingston county—Livingston Echo and The Sun.
- District No. 8. Marshall county—Tribune Democrat and The Sun.
- District No. 9. Calloway county—Calloway Times and The Sun.
- District No. 10. Caldwell county—Caldwell County News and The Sun.

In each of the districts enumerated a separate and distinct list of prizes (as described below in the paragraph on prizes) will be awarded by the Paducah Evening Sun together with the newspaper co-operating in that county in the search for popular people. These are the district prizes. But for the whole territory taken as a unit a number of splendid Grand Prizes have been provided for the people who show that they are the most popular, not only in their district but in all the districts taken together.

WHO ARE ELIGIBLE?—Any white man or woman of good repute residing in any of the counties enumerated above is eligible to enter in this contest.

PLAY GROUNDS

ADVOCATED BY PRESIDENT TAFT IN HIS LETTER.

Says That Idleness and Confinement Create Bad Habits Among Children.

Pittsburgh, May 12.—The following letter from President Taft was read at third annual congress of playground association of America:

"My Dear Sir: I greatly regret that I cannot be with you at your third annual congress at Pittsburgh from May 10th to 14th of this year, but I write to express my most sincere sympathy in the work which your association is doing.

"I do not know anything which will contribute more to the strength and morality of that generation of boys and girls compelled to remain part of urban populations in this country, than the institution in their cities of playgrounds where their hours of leisure can be occupied by rational and healthful exercise. The advantage is two-fold:

"In the first place, idleness and confinement in a narrow space in the city, in houses and cellars and unventilated dark rooms is certain to suggest and bring about pernicious occupation and create bad habits. Gambling, drinking, and other forms of vice are promoted in such a restricted mode of life.

"In the second place, an opportunity for hard, earnest and joyous play improves the health, develops the muscles, expands the lungs and teaches the moral lessons of attention, self-restraint, courage and patient effort.

"I think every city is under the strongest obligation to its people to furnish to the children, from the time they begin to walk until they reach manhood, places within the city walls large enough and laid out in proper form for the playing of all sorts of games which are known to our boys and girls and are liked by them.

"I sincerely hope that your present convention may be a success and that the work which you have begun may go on until no city in this country is without suitable playgrounds for the children of those who but for such city assistance in this regard would be without them.

"Sincerely yours,
WM. H. TAFT,
President Playground Association of America, No. 1 Madison Avenue, New York City."

COLONEL YOUNG

SPEAKS AT UNVEILING OF CONFEDERATE MONUMENT.

Mrs. Stonewall Jackson On Stand at Salisbury—Greets the Men in Gray.

Salisbury, N. C., May 12.—With ceremonies under the auspices of the Robert F. Hoke chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, a beautiful marble and bronze monument in honor of Rowan county's Confederate dead was unveiled on one of the principal streets in Salisbury. About 5,000 people were present. The veil was dropped by Christian Reed, a well-known author.

The guest of honor and speaker of the day was Col. Bennett H. Young, of Louisville. Mayor A. H. Boyden, of Salisbury, and former Congressman John S. Henderson, of this city, also made addresses.

The exercises were presided over by Col. Henderson, who presented Christian Reed, the latter giving a reading from her own composition, "Gloria Victis," in honor of the Confederate soldier.

When it became known that Mrs. Stonewall Jackson, of Charlotte, was seated on the platform the old veterans cheered wildly and asked to see the widow of the noted soldier. She graciously arose, while the crowd redoubled its cheering.

In his speech Mayor Boyden reviewed the history of North Carolina in the war from 1861 to 1865. Rowan county furnished 2,500 soldiers, of which number 610 were buried in the battlefields of Virginia and 1,300 returned to their homes wounded. Many of the veterans were present and bore testimony to their statement of their comrades.

Col. Young was introduced by Mayor Boyden and spoke for an hour of the valor and achievements of the soldiers of the old North State. His speech was filled with reminiscences still fresh in the minds of the hundreds of veterans present. It is, he said, a significant fact that all the inscriptions on the graves of the 11,000 Federal soldiers buried here was composed and written by Confederate soldiers. Col. Young was given a royal welcome in Salisbury.

The monument, in bronze, representing a Southern soldier, supported by fame, mounted on marble, was done by F. W. Ruckstuhl, of Baltimore, who attended the unveiling.

Printers Working.
Printers are scarce over western Kentucky and southern Illinois and some of the small papers have had difficulty in securing workmen. The officers of the Paduch Typographical union have received several letters from newspaper owners inquiring for workmen, but all the printers are supplied with work and do not care to let loose of jobs.

O. J. Taylor was in the city last night from Jopka, Ill., looking for a printer, as he has a newspaper equipment and will start the "Jopka Enterprise," a weekly. It will be Jopka's first newspaper.

Probably the easiest way to mark table linen is to leave the baby and a blackberry pie alone at the table for a few minutes.

BASEBALL NEWS

High School Wins.
High school's baseball team defeated a picked team from the firemen and engineers of the Illinois Central railroad yesterday afternoon in a closely contested game on the shop diamond. The game stood 3 to 3 in the ninth inning, but the school lads got busy, and hammered in a run with the aid of an error by the engineers, who could not put on the air in time to check the runner. Tramm and Fuller composed the battery for the railroad men, while Sutherland and Endress were on the points for High school.

Doctors Prescribe

Doctors of all schools in all parts of the country have used and prescribed Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey for many years. Read the following letters selected from a large number received and note the uniform good results obtained by each and every one of these skilled physicians.

Prescribed It For 14 Years.
"Permit me to say that I have prescribed Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey in my practice for the past fourteen years. I have been familiar with this medicinal whiskey for over 25 years, and specify Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey in all cases." L. L. Hertel, M. D., Chicago, Ill.

Recommends It As Pure.
"I have often prescribed your article, Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, in my practice, and can recommend it most highly as a Pure Whiskey." Dr. F. A. Kittinger, 97 Main Street, Lockport, N. Y.

Prescribed in Hospitals.
"For a number of years I have used your whiskey in the various public institutions of this city, of which I was attending physician and it is still being used in them. I have your product at my private hospital, and I am perfectly satisfied as to its merits. I also use it in my private practice, and as I have been practicing for upwards of forty years, I consider that I am able to judge of its good qualities." J. C. Beard, M. D., 638 Canal Street, New Orleans, La.

A Pure Stimulant.
"I have attained the most satisfactory results from the use of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey when a pure stimulant is required in my practice." J. E. Gendron, M. D., 35 Washington St., Worcester, Mass.

Prescribes It As Best Whiskey.
"When my patients require a stimulant I prescribe for them the best whiskey. Duffy's Malt fills all the requirements." E. S. Higgins, M. D., North Yakima, Washington.

It is invaluable for overworked men, delicate women and sickly children. It strengthens and sustains the system; is a promoter of health and longevity; makes the old feel young, strong and vigorous and have on your cheeks the glow of perfect health, take Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey regularly, according to directions. It tones and strengthens the heart action and purifies the entire system. It is recognized as a family medicine everywhere.

Sally's Question.
The worthy Sunday school superintendent of a certain Maryland town is also the village dry goods merchant. He is an energetic and efficient in his religious as in his secular capacity. An amusing incident is told of his attempt to enlarge the scriptural knowledge of a class of little girls.

He had told most eloquently the lesson of the day, and at the conclusion he looked about the room and inquired, encouragingly:

"Now, has anyone a question to ask?"

Slowly and timidly one little girl raised her hand.

"What is the question, Sally? Don't be afraid. Speak out."

The little girl fidgeted in her seat, twisted her fingers nervously, cast her eyes down. Finally, in a desperate outburst, she put the question:

"Mr. Ward, how much are those gloves for girls in your window?"—Lippincott's.

SOME KITTY STARS

WHERE THEY ARE AND WHAT THEY ARE DOING.

Most of Them Are Still Playing Ball and Many Have Gotten Into the Big Leagues.

Some people often ask what has become of the players of the old K. I. T. league. We have kept "tab" on some of them and below is given a little history of the career of some of them since they left the local lot.

Crowder, who played shortstop for the local team, has for the past two seasons, been with the Evansville team, of the Central League, and is again with them this year.

King, who played first base for Henderson, went to Tacoma, in the Northern League, and last season was playing with Montgomery, in the Southern league.

Gardner, at one time the star twirler of the "Hens," went to the Southern league as a pitcher, but failed to make good as a pitcher and played the out field one season for Montgomery.

Warner, catcher of the same team, is now in Henderson in the insurance business and last season played with the local "Purities" and it is reported that this year he will play with the Madisonville semi-pro team.

Brockett, who pitched such grand ball for Cairo, went to the Eastern League, and is now with the New York American.

Willis, who pitched for Clarksville is now in the Three-I League. He is a brother of Vic Willis, the great Pittsburg twirler.

Dummy Hughes, who played first base for Cairo and was a favorite all over the Kitty circuit, at one time coached the team of the Kentucky School for Deaf at Danville, and is now in the Three-III League.

Long, who played the out field for the locals, is now captain of the Frankfort team in the Blue Grass League.

McNutt, who pitched and managed the locals one season, later coached the Central University team at Danville and then played with Pittsburg, Kansas, in the Missouri Valley League.

Reddick, the second baseman of the locals at one time, is now playing in the Copper State League.

Engle, who played third base for Clarksville, is now playing left field for the New York American League team. He went to the latter team from the New York team, in the Eastern League.

Charlie Street, who caught for Hopkinsville, played for Cincinnati in the National League, but failed to make good and went to San Francisco in the Pacific Coast League. He improved on the coast and last year was with the Washington team in the American League. He is again with them this season and is playing a stellar game behind the bat. Last year he won $500 on a wager that he could catch a ball dropped from the Washington monument and it is worthy of notice that he is the only man who ever accomplished that trick, although it has been tried in days gone by by such good men as Malachuk, Kittredge and others.

Camillus Chatham, who played shortstop and managed Hopkinsville, is now manager of the telephone company at Nicholasville.

Duggan, who pitched for Vincennes, is now twirling for Nashville in the Southern League.

Blittroff, who was one of Cairo's star pitchers, is now in the Three-III League.

Land, who caught for Paducah, after playing for Toledo in the American Association, was drafted by Cleveland, and is now with that team.

Lemon, the Vincennes catcher, is in the Three-III League and is playing good ball.

"Kitty" Gerard, the Paducah twirler, is now in the South Atlantic League.

Pat Downing, who caught for Henderson, later played in the South Atlantic League, as did "Ducky" Holmes the Clarksville backstop.

"Red" Bohannon played second base for Nashville in the Southern League during the season of 1907, and last year was in the Western League and finished the season in the Blue Grass League.—Henderson Gleaner.

—BUDWEISER, King of bottled beer in family size cases, 2 dozen bottles to the case, delivered in any part of the city on short notice. ANHEUSER-BUSCH BREWING ASSN. Branch. Both phones 112. J. H. Steffen, Manager.

Daily Thought.

Few opportunities are grasped by those to whom they first present themselves. But no opportunity lingers. If it is not seized, it passes on till it finds someone awaiting it.

J. C. W. BECKHAM.

In the turmoil of factional politics,
former Governor Beckham has come in for his full share of contumely, deserved or not, as foe or friend may judge; but since he has entered the editorial field, promising to content himself with observation and comment, our mind recurs to a statement made by one who knew him, stripped of all the soil of party politics. Ben James, an eminent lawyer, and one of the attorneys for the United States in settling the Spanish war claims at the Paris conference, made this comment on J. C. W. Beckham:
"I taught that boy in school and I predicted a great future for him. He was the quickest, most persistent and most high principled youth I ever met. He had no apparent fault in school, and no bad habits."

PLAYING WITH FIRE.

This is a faithful saying and worthy of all acceptance: "Fools rush in where angels fear to tread."

Our very highly esteemed contemporary, the News-Democrat, reminds us remarkably of a gentleman, who has picked up a red hot coal and can't drop it and wants that someone would relieve him. Assuring the News-Democrat of our profound sympathy for any gentleman who picks up a red hot coal, we positively must decline to take hold of it ourselves.

Having declared that E. Barry, the county unit candidate for state senator, was defeated because The Sun supported him, and having abused us roundly for quoting the editorials of other Democratic papers in the senatorial district, reading it out of the party, the News-Democrat now asks where The Sun stands on the prohibition question; says anyone, who refuses to come out openly on the subject "lacks moral courage," and then admits it does not know where its own candidate for state senator stands on the question.

As for The Sun, let the News-
Democrat grasp two essential features of our general policy. We never cross a bridge until we come to it, and we never burn our bridges until we have crossed them. All that we have said in regard to the late senatorial convention and the vote of the News-Democrat and its cohorts in that convention, has been said in the interest of decency and American fair play;
and we have the backing of every Democratic newspaper in the Second senatorial district for what we have charged.

That is the hot coal, which the News-Democrat desires to put in our hands, to distract the attention of the public.
No, thank you. Wherever we may be, we will never be on your side of any question. We don't like your company. The Democratic papers of the district say they don't like your company. You just go on juggling your own little coal until it cools, or you drop it, or you burn up; but don't try to hand it to us.

MAYBE THIS EXPLAINS IT.
Perhaps, the News-Democrat's observation that "It was a matter of common comment among the delegates and spectators that every delegate on the floor, who was under the influence of liquor, was a Barry delegate," may be explained by the following quotation from Judge Barry's statement in the Benton Tribune-Democrat:

"One Marshall county delegate says, after they failed to handle him by pleadings, threatening and an offer of money, that just before the hour for the convention to meet Wednesday night, that he was 'doped,' but the dose was not quite strong enough to entirely overcome him;
that by heroic efforts to throw off the effects, by walking in the open air,
with the assistance of a friend."

Between the News-Democrat's allegations of drunkenness on the part of some delegates and the affidavit that there was no whiskey in the credentials committee room, the general public will form a bad estimate of the Democratic convention in the Second senatorial district April 27.

KENTUCKY AND THE WASHING- TON POST.

The Washington Post publishes an editorial review of the recent tariff speech in the United States senate of Mr. W. O. Bradley and pronounces it to have been an excellent performance. Accompanying the comment upon Mr. Bradley's speech is some interesting history of eminent men that Kentucky has sent to Washington and their views upon the tariff, stories of Henry Clay and Humphrey Marshall and John C. and W. C. P.
Breckinridge.

Regular readers of our Washington
namesake must be struck by the wide
information and accurate personal knowledge of statesmen of the last
two generations displayed by one of the editorial writers of the Washington Post, and doubly so must this be
the case with Kentuckians who see
that interesting newspaper, for the statesmen of no commonwealth are treated as kindly or find their great deeds more fully exploited than those
from Kentucky.

The reason for this lies in the fact that Mr. Eugene Newman, whose writings published under the non de-
plume of "Savoyard" frequently appear in the Evening Post and other newspapers, is now one of the chief
editorial writers on the Washington Post. Those familiar with Mr. Newman's attractive literary style can
find traces of his handwriting in almost every issue of that publication.
—Louisville Post.

INDEPENDENCE IN THE SENATE.

"To see a Republican senator firing broadsides at the tariff bill prepared by the leaders of his party is rare sport for the Democrats," says
the Commercial-Appeal.

There it goes again. Partisanship!
Isn't it pleasant for the whole people, regardless of political affiliations, when a senator has the courage to stand by his convictions and principles and to call a spade a spade on the floor of the senate? We doubt whether a weeper like the Commercial-Appeal can appreciate the moral fiber of Senator Dooliver. It can only see the party advantage in a possible schism of the majority. Twice the minority party in congress has had the opportunity to make effective reforms, and twice it has failed. It could have carried through the amendment of the house rules. It could have secured a reduction of the tariff; but most of its members had an ax to grind, and it could not caus.

All the outspoken, consistent criticism of the tariff schedules has come from western Republicans and they are entitled to all the glory.

SOME STORIES

AROUND TOWN

WANTED—To find the city engineer of Tyler?

This is the question that Postmaster A. N. Sears would like to solve, for he has several letters of official business addressed to the city engineer of Paducah's suburb, which is without any wheels of government except as a part of the county. The mail is addressed to "T. D. Johnson, city engineer of Tyler."

Several weeks ago in one of the leading journals, devoted to the publication of news for contractors, a news item appeared that the city of Tyler, Ky., would begin construction of a system of storm water sewers and that bids were wanted. The name of "T. D. Johnson, city engineer," was given, and since then numerous letters have been received at the small postoffice, which occupies a corner in a grocery like many hundreds of postoffices of unincorporated villages in the state.

It is attributed to an error, probably referring to a city in some other state. Postmaster Sears is still holding the letters, and as there are no calls for the mail, it will be returned to the senders or sent to the dead letter office.

CATARH MICROBES

A Dead Microbe Is the Best Microbe
—Hymel Kills Them All.

Hymel (pronounced High-o-mee) is a killer of catarrh germs, because when you breathe it in, its antiseptic and germicide properties reach every nook and crevice of the mucous membrane, from the mouth and nose deep into the lungs.

Hymel brings the Australian forests of pine and eucalyptus to your home. It is made of the active principles extracted from these trees.

No one who lives in or near these forests suffers from catarrh. No one who breathes in Hymel, the real forest air of Australia, will have catarrh for long after the treatment starts.

If you want to cure catarrh, croup, bronchitis, coughs, colds, asthma, hay fever, or relieve consumption, try Hymel, the common-sense cure, the cure that reaches the spot.
A complete Hymel outfit, including a hard rubber inhaler, costs only $1.00, and extra bottles of Hymel, if afterwards needed, cost but 50 cents. Guaranteed to cure or money back. Sold by leading druggists ev-

Regular readers of our Washington
namesake must be struck by the wide
information and accurate personal
knowledge of statesmen of the last
two generations displayed by one of
the editorial writers of the Washington Post, and doubly so must this be
the case with Kentuckians who see
that interesting newspaper, for the
statesmen of no commonwealth are
treated as kindly or find their great
deeds more fully exploited than those
from Kentucky.

The reason for this lies in the fact
that Mr. Eugene Newman, whose
writings published under the non de-
plume of "Savoyard" frequently appear in the Evening Post and other
newspapers, is now one of the chief
editorial writers on the Washington Post. Those familiar with Mr. Newman's attractive literary style can
find traces of his handwriting in almost every issue of that publication.

learned there that Jefferson county

Henderson city High school $40 a

NEW COAL TRUST

IN CONTROL OF OHIO AND WEST
VIRGINIA FIELDS.

Syndicate of Railroad Capitalists the Brokers—Commission Makes Report.

Washington, May 12.—A comprehensive history of the organization and operation of various coal companies in Ohio and West Virginia and their merging into one company, which is alleged to be controlled by a syndicate of railroad capitalists, is given in a report made to congress by the interstate commerce commission.

The trunk line syndicate consists of the Pennsylvania, the Baltimore and Ohio, the New York Central, the Zanesville and Western, the Kanawha and Michigan, the Wheeling and Lake Erie, the Chesapeake and Ohio and the Norfolk and Western.

A great part of the report is taken up with a description of the manner in which the various coal companies and railway companies in this region
famly were merged into the Sunday Creek company.

It seemed to the commission, after a long consideration of mergers and manipulations described in the report, that the railway companies, by various devices, sought to discourage the further development of coal mines in the Ohio and West Virginia territory. The commission says the interest of the railroad officials in their coal companies and the guaranty by the railroads of the bonds of the coal companies furnished an incentive to discourage further development of coal mines and so far as possible to retain to these coal companies a monopoly of the coal transported by these railroads.

SCHOOL BOARD

that the concrete blocks could be made for 12 cents each. The board will have the choice of letting the county manufacture the blocks and erect the school, or of advertising for bids.

County Judge Lightfoot notified
the board that he would turn over to the school $3,500, which is in the seminary fund. It was the intention of Judge Lightfoot to lay aside money for the erection of a new court house, but the money will be used for the schools. The citizens of Health have subscribed nearly $2,000 for the building in addition to donating a site. The collection of the subscriptions will begin July 1.

Must Borrow Money.

The county schools will need money to meet the expenses until the money from the collection of taxes is handed over, and for this purpose a committee, consisting of S. J. Billington, county school superintendent, W. F. Sexton, H. Anderson, and F. F. Wholson, was appointed to borrow money from a bank. The committee will borrow $3,000 now to meet expenses, and make arrangements to borrow $3,000 August 1.
It is thought the money can be secured at an interest rate of six per cent.

In the number of pupils in the county schools there is a slight increase, according to the enumeration of the county. This year there are 3,292 white pupils while last year there were 3,289, making an increase of three children. This year there are 596 colored pupils and last year there were 587, making an increase of 19 or a total increase over last year of 22. This is the first year that the enumeration was taken by districts. The report is: First—437, white, 139 colored; Second—635, white, 14 colored; Third—463, white; 59 colored; Fourth—748,
white, 257 colored; Fifth—485,
white, 103 colored; Sixth—474,
white, 25 colored.

The board adjourned at noon, until 2 o'clock this afternoon. The board will make an inspection of a building at Seventeenth street and Broadway, which is being built of concrete blocks that are manufactured by Judge Lightfoot.

The entire membership of the board was present: Trustees W. R.
Davis, F. F. Gholson, W. F. Sexton,
P. Straub, H. Anderson, P. A. Bag-
well and S. J. Billington, country school superintendent.

MANY DROWN

GASOLINE YAWL GOES DOWN
WITH WORKMEN.

Terrible Catastrophe at Pittsburgh
Last Night—Dragging River.

Pittsburgh, May 12.—Three bodies were recovered and between twenty and 25 missing. It is believed today that the number of workmen drowned in the capsizing of a gasoline yawl
in the Ohio river last night, will exceed 30. It is believed that not less than 40 men were crowded into the little boat. A large force of police and river men are dragging the river.

The Missing.

Albert Graham, pilot; George Thompson, "Boots" O'Neil, James Connor, Walter Low, Thomas Kennedy, William Guthrie, Henry Vigell, Dennis Murphy, Tony Bole, Ruskey,
Louis Gilstein, William Davis, Joseph
Lyle, Will Burke, two brothers named Batts, and three others whose names are unknown.

All the men were employees of the Pressed Steel company at McKees Rocks plant. The men had been working overtime until 8 o'clock and left the works to cross the river in the launch about 15 minutes later.
The boat is said to have been intended for not over 20 persons and it is said that it was dangerous to attempt to carry as many as 25 in it. But all the men wanted to get across on the first trip and the 30 crowded into it.

Suddenly Sank.

When the boat reached the middle of the stream where the water is perhaps 20 feet deep, the boat suddenly sank. As it sank it caused a suction which took many of the men down with it. Others attempted to swim ashore, but were chilled by the cold water and became exhausted before reaching the shore. So far as is known, only ten reached the shore.

Reasons for Studying the Bible.
Evangelist G. Dallas Smith arrived yesterday from Dyer, Tenn., and began a series of protracted meetings at Christian chapel on Goebel avenue. The subject discussed last night was "Reasons for Studying the Bible." The following reasons were mentioned and discussed: First: We should study the Bible because it reveals the origin, mission and destiny of man. Second: It contains the mind of God. Third: It reveals the great plan of salvation. Fourth: As a protection against false teachers. Fifth: It is the medium of divine light. Sixth: It is the base of divine faith. Seventh: By it we are to be judged the last day. The meeting was well attended. Services each evening beginning promptly at 7:45. Subject for tonight, "The Power of the Word." Everyone invited.

U. S. Weighers Are Dropped.
New York, May 12.—The first sweeping change in affairs at the custom house under the administration of Loeb was announced when it was officially stated that the offices of four or five United States weighers would be abolished. The change went into effect at the close of yesterday's business. The weighers' offices of the docks have been removed to the custom house.

Town Clock Strikes Now.
The clock on the tower of the city hall has refused to strike for several days, and also has refused to work. This morning workmen got busy on the clock, and it was found that the electric wires, which furnish the current for the lights in the tower, had been twisted around the tumbling shaft, which controls the movement of the hands. The wire was cut and the big clock began its usual labor of ticking off the minutes.

Trouble in Canal Zone.
Washington, May 12.—Thorough examination will be made by the isthmian canal commission of the riot reported from Colon, in which C. M. Abbott, an American electrician, and a negro laborer were killed. The canal policemen are held responsible for the affray, having crossed into the zone to rescue a number of their companions, who had been arrested on the charge of creating a disturbance.

Paducahans Graciously Welcomed at Metropolis.

Mrs. Mildred Davis, Mrs. Louis M. Rieke, Mrs. Elizabeth Austin and Mrs. R. B. Phillips, were a party of the Delphic club members who went to Metropolis yesterday to attend the 24th district convention of the Federation of Women's clubs of the state of Illinois. The party were the guests of Mrs. Davis, the president of the Delphic club, and went down on the Fowler in the morning, returning at night. The day was most delightfully spent, and the closing session of the convention was interestingly featured.

The Paducah delegation was welcomed in the most hospitable way and were literally the guests of the Metropolis club women, being received in a whole-hearted fashion that made a delightful impression. They were met at the wharf by committee in automobiles and were taken to the Methodist church where the sessions were held. It was a notable body of attractive women and some brilliant addresses were given during the day. Mrs. Johns, who lived for a short time in Paducah and made many friends here, is president of the Metropolis Woman's club and, also, vice-president of this district. She presided over the assembly with graciousness and ease. Mrs. Everett of Chicago, president of the Illinois Woman's clubs, was present, and is a woman of charming personality. Mrs. Candee, of Cairo, the first president of the Illinois Federation, was also present. She gave a splendid address on Forestry and is a woman of distinguished presence. Mrs. Everett spoke on "Civic Beauty" in an impressive way. There are 30,000 club women in Illinois and eight clubs were represented in the 25th district. The visitors were graciously welcomed by Mayor Treat, of Metropolis, who pleasantly alluded to the vast strides in growth and prospects that Metropolis was making and offered to include Paducah as a suburb.

An elegant luncheon was served at noon at the State House to the guests. This was followed by a number of happy toasts, the concluding one was "To our friends across the river," in which stress was placed upon the hospitable reception accorded by the Woman's club in Paducah and reference was made to the beautiful club building here. In the afternoon the convention guests were taken in automobiles to the Fort Massac park to see the noble statue of George Roger Clark. They were delightfully entertained at supper at the Julian hotel.

The Paducah club women were most charmingly impressed with the hospitality, grace and brilliancy of the Illinois Federation women.

Afternoon Reception for Paducah Guest.

Mrs. R. H. Polndexter is hostess of a prettily planned reception from 4 to 6 o'clock this afternoon to compliment her sister, Mrs. Robert N. Wilkinson, a recent bride, and Mrs. W. Roy Katterjohn, of Paducah, Ky., who has been visiting in Nashville since the Wilkinson-Villines marriage. The guest list this afternoon includes forty friends of the hostess, and the reception hall and rooms are thrown together for the occasion and lavishly and artistically decorated with white peonies and Jackson vines. Mrs. Alice L. Villines and Mrs. Dallas M. Villines receive with the hostess and honorees, Misses Lula Parrish and Polle Ferguson dispense frappe in the hall, and in the dining room a tempting ice course is served by Mrs. Fount Rison, Mrs. Wm. H. Meyers and Miss Alleen Lillard. The color note of white and green is dominant in the ices molded in fruit designs and flower cakes. The table is lovely with a real lace scarf, and a cut glass pitcher of white peonies on a circular mirror in the center. Garlands of the graceful Jackson vine fall from the chandelier to the four corners of the table, where they are caught by bows of white satin ribbon. Miss Alice L. Villines wears a reception toilette of black braided silk, and Mrs. Polndexter appears in a Copenhagen silk finished with cream lace. Mrs. Katterjohn is becomingly costumed in cream net over silk, with touches of violet satin. Mrs. Wilkinson is very attractive in a tulle dress with Irish lace. Mrs. Dallas Villines is gowned in champagne silk with touches of green.—Nashville Banner, May 11.

FAMOUS BEAUTIES.

French Women Know How to Care For the Hair.

At the beauty show in France three years ago gold medals were awarded to five different women.

A society reporter who interviewed all five women in the interest of his paper, reported that all of them had beautiful hair, and that each of the five enthusiastically attributed her luxuriant hair to Parisian Sage.

Parisian Sage is a discovery of a celebrated scientist, who spent the best years of his life in perfecting this great hair tonic.

In giving his recipe to the people he said: "Parisian Sage is the most delightful hair dressing in the world, but it is more than a hair dressing. It cures dandruff by killing the germs that infest the roots of the hair; it stops falling hair; it gives vigor and strength to the hair roots; it prevents the hair from turning gray." And any woman can have beautiful, soft and luxuriant hair in one week by using Parisian Sage.

Gilbert's drug store sells Parisian Sage at 50 cents a large bottle, and guarantees it to do all that it is claimed for it or money refunded. The girl with the Auburn hair on every package.

This letter will prove it: "To say that one bottle of your Parisian Sage completely relieved the itching of my scalp, and stopped the hair from falling out and simultaneously eradicated the dandruff germs, is only simply stating the facts as they are in my individual case. I shall always feel deeply grateful to your medicine for accomplishing such results." J. Albert Shermer, 32 Elizabeth St., W. Detroit, Mich., Feb. 16, 1909.

A Mere Hint.

The young man had married the rich man's daughter, and wasn't killing himself with work to support her. One day the old man took him to task.

"Look here," he said emphatically, "why don't you go to work?"
"I don't have to," the son-in-law replied, with brazen effrontery.
"Well, you will have to."
"Why will I?"
"Because, sir, I cannot live always to support you."

"But you will leave us something?"
"Not much, I won't. There won't be anything to leave."

The son-in-law was alarmed.
"Great Jupiter!" he exclaimed, "you don't mean to tell me you have nothing?"

"That's about the size of it."

The son-in-law devoted himself to profound thought for several seconds.

"I have a suggestion to offer," he said, in a businesslike manner.
"What is it?" asked the old gent.
"Well, I suggest that you take out, say, $25,000 life insurance on yourself, to save wear and tear on my mind."—Illustrated Bits.

Charity, Not Trespass.

A well known angler, who had been fishing all day and got nothing but bites, was accosted by one of the keepers, who said:

"Are you aware this water is private, and that you are not allowed to take fish from it?"
"Great Scott," replied the angler. "I'm not taking your fish; I'm feeding them."—Tit-Bits.

"And what the the smart things in ladies' shoes?" asked the new customer.

"The ladies' feet," laughed the shoe clerk, who had been forcing No. 5 feet into No. 2 shoes.—Chicago News.

CHAPTER XIII.
THANK TAKES A HAND IN THE GAME.
THE old man greeted the lieutenant affably, but as his glance fell on his daughter he stopped stock still on the threshold. "I told you never to wear that dress again," he said in a dry, harsh voice. The girl made no answer, for her heart was breaking, but turned and went into her room. Burrell had an irresistible desire to tell Gale that he wanted his daughter for his wife. It would be an unwelcome pleasure to startle this iron gray old man and the shawled and shambled mummy of red, with the unwinking eyes that always reminded him of two oxbow cherries, but he had given Necia his promise. So he descended to the exchange of ordinary topics and inquired for the news of the creek.

"Necia's ground is getting better every hour," the trader said. "Yesterday they found a sixty dollar pan." "Have you struck pay on yours?" "No; Poleon and I seem to hold bad hands. Some of his laymen are quitting work. They've crossed out in half a dozen places and can't find a color." Gale went to Necia's door and called her, but when she appeared he was unprepared for the tragic face with which she greeted him.

"Daughter," he said, "don't feel bad over what I said. I didn't mean to be cross with you, but I don't like that dress." "Were you cross with me, daddy?" she said dully. "I didn't hear. What did you say?" He looked at her in amazement. "Necia, little girl, what is the trouble?" She was staring past him, and her fingers were fumbling helplessly with the face of her gown, but she began to show signs of collapse.

"I sent him away—I gave him up when he wanted me—wanted me—Oh, daddy, he wants to marry me—and I sent him away!" "He asked you to marry him in—in spite of who you are and what I am?" "Yes; he is ready to give up his ambition, his army, his future, his family, everything for me—to sacrifice it all, and so, of course, I couldn't let him." She spoke simply, as if her father would surely understand and approve her action, while in her voice was a note of inevitable resignation. "You see, I never understood what my blood would mean to him until tonight. I've been selfish and thoughtless, I guess. I just wanted him, and wanted him to take me, but now that he is mine I love him more than I thought. He is so dear to me that I can't drag him down—I can't—I can't!" She went to the open door and stood leaning against the casing, facing the cool outer darkness, her face hidden from them, her form sagging wearily, as if the struggle had sapped her whole strength.

Alluna crept to the trader and looked up at him eagerly, whispering: "This will end in a little while, John. She is young. She can go back to the mission tomorrow. She will soon forget."

"Forget! Do you think she can forget?" "Any woman can forget. Only men remember." "It is the red blood in you—lying. You know you lie." "It is to save your life," she said. "I know, but it's no use." To Necia he said, "You needn't worry, little daughter. But her ears were deaf. "You needn't give him up, I say. This will end all right."

"Seeing that she gave no sign of heeding, he stepped closer and swung her about till she faced him. "Can't you trust me this one time?"

"You always have before, Necia. I say he'll marry you, and it will come out right."

She raised her hopeless eyes and strove gamely to meet him, then, failing, broke away and turned back to the door. "I knew you couldn't understand. I—I—O God, I love him so!" With a cry like that of a wounded animal she fled out into the night, where she could give vent to her anguish unseen, for she had never wept before her father, but always crept away and hid herself until her grief was spent. Gale would have started after her, but Alluna dragged him back fiercely. "No, no! It means your life, John. Let the secret die, and she will forget. She is so young. Time will cure her. Time cures everything. Don't tell her, don't tell any one, and, above all, don't tell that soldier. He would not believe, nor would she. Even I have doubted."

"You?" "Yes, John. And, if I don't believe, what is a stranger to say? No man knowing you would believe the tale without proof. Suppose she doubted. Have you ever thought of that? Would you not rather have her die still loving you than live and disbelieve?"

"Yes, yes! Of course I—I've thought of that, but—Woman, you're worse than a rattlesnake!" "Even if he knew, he might not marry her. You at least are clean, and that other man was a devil. A brave man's life is too great a price to pay for a girl that will die in a year."

Alluna was speaking swiftly in her own language, her body tense, her face ablaze, and no man seeing her could ever again have called her people stolid.

"You think time will cure a love like that?" he said. "Yes, yes!" "That's all you know about it. Time may act that way perhaps in cities and such places, but out in the hills it is different. When you've got the breath of the forest in you, I say it is different. Time! Why, I've lived fifteen years in the open with a living memory. Every night I've dreamed it over; every day I've lived it through. In every campfire I see a face, and every wind from the south brings a voice to me. Every stormy night a girl with eyes like Necia's calls to me, and I have to follow. Every patch of moonlight shows her smiling at me, just beyond, just in the shadow's edge. Love! Time! Why, Alluna, love is the only thing in the world that never dies, and time only makes it the more enduring."

He took up the white slouch hat he had thrown down when he came in and stepped to the door. "Where are you going?" inquired the squaw fearfully.

"To the barracks to give myself up!" She flung herself at him, with a great cry, and seized him about the waist. "You never loved me, John, but I have been a good woman to you, although I knew you were always thinking of her—and had no thought of me. I have loved this girl because you loved her. I have hated your enemies because you hated them, and now I remember, while you forget."

"Forget! What do you mean?" "Stark!" The man paused. "I did almost forget him—and after fifteen years!"

She flung herself at him, with a great cry, and seized him about the waist. "You never loved me, John, but I have been a good woman to you, although I knew you were always thinking of her—and had no thought of me. I have loved this girl because you loved her. I have hated your enemies because you hated them, and now I remember, while you forget."

Gale stared at her, and as he gazed the red pigment underneath her skin, the straight hanging, manlike hair, the gaudy shawl she never went without, the shapeless, skin shoe feet, the slovenly, ill fitting garb of a miscast woman vanished, and he saw her as she was on a day long past, a slim, shy, silent creature, with great, watchful, trusting eyes and a soul unspooled. No woman had ever been so loyal, so uncompromising, and her gods. He had shifted hither and yon at the call of his uncertain fortune or at a sign of that lurking fear that always dogged him, and she had never left his side, never questioned, never doubted, but always served him like a slave, without asking for a part in that other love, without sharing in the caresses he had consecrated to a woman she had never seen.

"By heaven, you're game, Alluna, but there's a limit even to what I can take from you," he said at last. "I don't ever seem to have noticed it before, but there is. No. I've got to do this thing alone tonight, all of it, for you have no place in it, and I can't let the little girl go on like this. The sooner that soldier knows the better." He leaned down and touched her brown mouth with his grizzled lips. "Thank you, Alluna, for making a man of me when I'd nearly forgotten. Now, you stay here." He knew he could count on her obedience, and so he left her. When he had gone she drew the shawl up over her face and crouched in the doorway, straining her eyes after him through the dark. In time she began to rock and sway and then to chant until the night moaned with the death song of her people.

THOUSAND TAKEN

THIEVES RANSACK HOUSE ON OLD CRUTCHER PLACE.

Late Owner Had a Fear of Banks—Left There by the Heirs

Frankfort, Ky., May 12.—The insecurity of trunk, old socks and other such receptacles, as depositories for money, was forcibly illustrated Friday night, when unknown thieves broke into a trunk in the old "Red" (Louis) Crutcher place, near Jett's Station, this county, and stole several thousand dollars. The amount was either so great that the thieves got careless, or they were frightened hurriedly away, for they left $523 in the trunk which could hardly have been overlooked, had they made a careful search.

The trunk which was ransacked was the property of the late Miss Mary Crutcher, and since her death a year or so ago, it has never been opened, owing to some disagreement among the heirs. She left no will, and it is said, that the heirs could not get together upon a division of her estate. Miss Crutcher was about 75 years of age at the time of her death, and left considerable property, and no one is positively able to say just how much cash there was in the old trunk which was robbed.

Miss Crutcher's brother, Louis, survived her a short time, and when he died he left his property to the children of Ed Shryock, of that neighborhood, who is a near relative. Mr. Crutcher's trunk was opened and the effects which he owned were given over to his heirs, but the trunk which his sister had left, and her property was still untouched. Unable to decide upon its disposition, the old homestead was locked up tight, and has been standing in such a condition for several months.

The discovery that the house had been entered was made Saturday. The trunk in which were most of Miss Crutcher's valuables was found turned upside down on the floor, and scarcely hidden was $523. Mr. Shryock says that there must have been $2,000 or $300 besides this, for those who were familiar with Miss Crutcher's affairs say that she had that amount in cash about the time of her death. Most of it was in gold and silver certificates, with a few gold coins, some of very early mintage.

Mr. Shryock brought the amount which had been left to town today and deposited it in a local bank. He said that both of his late relatives had a distrust for banks and preferred to keep their money where they

In the Words of the Popular Song, Druggist W. J. Gilbert says "Yes, I Am Sincere."

To the Editor of The Sun:
Dear Sir—It has been brought to my notice that a few people seem to doubt the sincerity of my offer to refund a customer's money if, after a fair trial, Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Restorer fails to restore the color of their hair as well as to remove dandruff and make their hair grow. Therefore, we take this occasion to publish through your columns the fact that this is a bona-fide offer, made in good faith, and will be lived up to by us. We want to say right here, however, that in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, instead of wanting their money back, the people want more of the remedy; but to the occasional one who is not satisfied with the results, the money is cheerfully refunded.

It has been my experience that Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Restorer gives general satisfaction, and that, after once trying this remedy, the people not only continue to use it right along, but also recommend it to their friends. This speaks well for the remedy, and from what I know of it myself, I feel that I can conscientiously recommend it to my patrons and guarantee that it will give them perfect satisfaction.

We respectfully request that you print this letter where your readers will see it and know that they can try a 50c or $1.00 bottle of this remedy without any risk of throwing their money away. Respectfully yours,

W. J. Gilbert, Paducah.

Despair and Despondency

No one but a woman can tell the story of the suffering, the despair, and the despondency endured by women who carry a daily burden of ill-health and pain because of disorders and derangements of the delicate and important organs that are distinctly feminine. The tortures so bravely endured completely upset the nerves if long continued. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a positive cure for weakness and disease of the feminine organism.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG, SICK WOMEN WELL.

It allays inflammation, heals ulceration and soothes pain. It tones and builds up the nerves. It fits for wifehood and motherhood. If you want a book that tells all about women's diseases, and how to cure them at home, send 21 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce to pay cost of mailing only, and he will send you a free copy of his great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser—revised, up-to-date edition, in paper covers. could see that it was safe. Mr. Shryock believes that he knows who broke into the house, and is making a quiet investigation. Some of the neighbors say that a band of "movers" was seen in the vicinity of the place several days ago, and they might be able to throw some light on the theft.

Sunflower Philosophy.

The great secret of life is not to make many important mistakes.

No woman who has a house that is clean need ever be ashamed of her furniture.

The man who begs your pardon means about as much as you do when you grant it.

"I wonder if I look as nasty when I eat," said a man today, "as other people look to me?"

We wish we could hibernate during summer and winter and live only during the spring and fall.

So many men carry large life insurance these days that getting rich by marrying widows is becoming quite an industry.

It is all right in books for a girl to have a lover who worships her from afar, but outside of books she wants him to come a little nearer.

Another thing to be called in is the sentiment about "sleeping in a valley so sweet;" every cemetery we ever saw was perched on top of a hill.

When a woman hears that the school teacher says her boy is a bad boy, she goes to the school house to scratch the teacher's eyes out. But when a woman hears that her husband is a bad man she accepts it as confirmation of what she has long suspected.—Acheson (Kas.) Globe.

LAST DAYS OF POMPEII

This beautiful and pulse-quicken picture, an adaption without any liberties, being taken with the text of Lord Lytton's Novel, is by Ambrosio, the greatest of Italian Film Manufacturers.

It was recently exhibited at the Kentucky, meeting with the unqualified approbation of those who witnessed its presentation and it is by unanimous request that the repetition occurs.

The picture is guaranteed by the management to be the supreme triumph in animated photography. The costuming is perfect, the acting faultless, the stage setting magnificent and superb. Every detail being wrought out, leaving nothing to the imagination. The culminating feature, the eruption of Mt. Vesuvius and the destruction of Pompeii, being the most spectacular and daring piece of work ever produced, the ensemble making a glorious picture, once seen, never to be forgotten.

All the mechanical effects that should accompany the production of the "Last Days of Pompeii" will be utilized, making it as realistic as possible.

In conjunction with the "Last Days of Pompeii" an additional Reel of pictures will be exhibited and two vocal numbers rendered, the whole making a grand double-bill, giving patrons almost an hour of wholesome amusement for the insignificant admission price of five cents.

AMATEUR CONTESTS

Amateur contests will be held every Tuesday and Friday evenings.

President's Address.

Dr. Vernon Blythe's annual address as retiring president was:

Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen of the Southwestern Kentucky Medical Society: To give a paper calling it an oration on medicine is so high sounding that I am fearful this will fall so far short of the title you will have to name it after having heard it, I consider it a necessity in such an address to endeavor to state in a clear, incisive manner the honor, the dignity, the usefulness of the medical fraternity, its weakness and strength, some of its past, its recent mighty program and its future hope.

As far as antiquity's records reach far beyond Abraham in the valley of the Nile, according to definite information of old Egyptian papyrus there flourished a wonderful civilization in the land of the Pharaohs and their chief physicians were the head of it. Six thousand years ago they understood the anatomy of the body, the heart, blood vessels, pulse and circulation, they noted pathological effect of disease, and they had a system of pharmacy, not as abundant as ours but wise, they did operation and many wonderful things.

In Greece during the golden period physicians were highly respected. Medicine arose through the efforts of Hippocrates from superstition and priestcraft to which it had fallen to a dogmas and superstitions through investigations, analogies and experiments without stop or hindrance.

It is impossible to pass over such names as Jenner, Laennec, Lister, Pasteur or Koch without feeling a thrill of admiration and joy in the heart that such men have lived to give humanity the blessing and benefit of their thoughts.

By the scientific use of the microscope cellular pathology has been revealed, mysterious causes of disease in many of its forms have been made clear, bacteriology places prophylaxis on a scientific basis and leads to antiseptic and aseptic surgery, thus saving millions of lives yearly.

What the Science Has Done.

By the efforts of medical men through their more thorough knowledge of causation and diagnosis of disease, prevention and cure have made such mighty strides that we can almost credit to the medical profession these wonderful facts, that in 1780 generations were averaging only 21 years, today it is 42. Between 1771-1780 in London 55-1000 died of small pox and that was the history of Europe, today it is 1-1,000,000 or less. In the sixteenth century plague, cholera, typhus fever, dysentery caused a mortality of 31-1000 in London, now all equal 2-1000. In New York City expectation of life in 1866 was 25 now it is 42; in 1873 for seven years of age and under five years mortality 123-1000, now 56-1000, or a saving of 28,000 lives annually; in the 17th and 18th centuries of the civilized world, the mortality was 50-1000; in 1806 in London, 17-1000, and in Chicago 14-1000. In New York City diphtheria death has been reduced 65 per cent by the use of anti-toxin, making a rate of six-tenths per 1,000. In Chicago there was 35 per cent mortality in diphtheria without anti-toxin, now there is an average of 6.4 per cent with the use of anti-toxin but if used the first day of disease only 34 per cent died. What a marvelous and wonderful story. How shall we thank the Almighty that he has permitted us to see some of the wisdom yet in store for future generations if they will diligently search for it.

To enumerate a small fraction of the benefits brought to humanity by medical research since Jenner introduced vaccination would fill pages with writing. Look at the care and solicitude of great nations and states for their blind, cripple, deaf and insane today; think of their needless pains and misery a hundred years ago, a demented or insane person was regarded as belonging almost in the same category as the wild beasts and treated as such.

Medicine is not an exact science and many generations will pass before it will be, if ever so, every case of disease is a problem in itself just as every individual differs from another. One of the most appalling thoughts of life is that no living thing will escape disease, every plant, every animal must and do undergo an alteration of its body or organs disturbing the vital functions. The most important question that presents itself during the time of disease is the determination of what is taking place in the body, and following immediately is how to guard against this pathological change and to recover the ground lost. A great part of a physician's success depends upon his own personality and persuasion, this comes to him by inheritance, a good preliminary education, good association and getting his chosen work well in hand, there cannot be too much pleading for more thoroughness for the production of minds and men of greater caliber.

The essentials of a successful physician should be a more careful control of their equipment for life, of sound healthy organism, avoidance of pretenses, shams and hyperboly. Illness is the result of disturbed equilibrium, often brought about by irrational living producing excessive absorption or elimination. Physicians are interpreters of these conditions and their life work is dedicated in finding the means of restoring this lost equilibrium in other people, they should, therefore, strive to live so as to keep the conditions correct within themselves. Immorality and excesses are weaknesses which he must avoid. His intellectual and moral qualities should be of the highest type, above all men he ought to possess tolerance, having faith in mankind's goodness, never shattered by the many repulsive conditions with which he may have to deal, believing in doing good and not hesitating to do it.

Spirit of Reform.

Pharmacology and therapeutics are to a great extent neglected by medical schools, the usefulness, physiological effects, compatibilities of drugs are not sufficiently emphasized, this at once casts the new graduate of medicine out into the profession to weed out this knowledge on that line the best he can, consequently, his mind is a rich field for the nostrum evil and the detail a man finds a good soil to cultivate, if the doctor is not very careful in his observations and discriminating in his judgments. The patent medicine evil and the excessive nostrum evils are other abnormalities whose causes are brought about by ignorance and credulity of the laity on these subjects and whose remedy can be affected only by more thorough enlightenment and publicity. The great spirit of reform which has been sweeping over the United States in financial and political circles during the past years seems to have also aroused the medical profession and to have enlisted the aid of such great journals as Collier's Weekly, Ladies' Home Journal, Saturday Evening Post, McClure's Magazine and others to active aid against the gross wrongs imposed upon humanity by these money harpies, who would sell their very souls and others' lives for gold.

The range of therapeutics is so large that we cannot focus our thoughts to one book or one author, the increase of chemical combination an elegant preparation are so rapid, the medical profession has to look widely but carefully over the field. But with all this they should not be too far away without knowing what they are giving their patients, "being wise as serpents, as harmless as doves."

The ever enlarging vision of medical progress, in serum therapy, surgical technique, clinical diagnosis, cellular pathology, bacteriology, physiological chemistry is truly inspiring to all who have the real love of medical science within them. He who would desire to separate surgery and medicine does not appreciate the true relation of one for another, they are dependent mutually on the other, interwoven so closely that we may see different faces but an existence in common.

Professional Ideals.

We can look with pride at the high ideals of medicinal profession taken as a whole, in all the corrupt exposure of grafting and stealing of the great insurance companies there has never been a finger or rebuke or scorn pointed at the true, sincere, honest medical examiner upon whom the very life of the companies depend. There is a certain unity of action and thought for humanity in the medical profession that is evident in no other avocation in life, by their urging of all sanitary precautions and preventive medicines they are advocating what can logically be called their financial harm, but physicians are actuated by these motives the world over.

Physicians' greatest foes may be called in Osler's words, ignorance, apathy, and vice or the devil, these are to be fought at every turn being ever present and it is to their credit that the majority of doctors of medicine are arrayed against these persistent evils. There has of recent years been growing in every section of our United States and in every community a spirit of concord and harmony among physicians, not devoid of competition but lacking to a great extent the former envy and jealousy common to little minds.

There will perhaps never come a millennium in medicine and most of our Utopian dreams will be shattered in their weaving, but there is one thing all medical men can hope for and that is a continual marching forward of the banner of progress in our chosen science, casting searching rays of light into the fields of ignorance, apathy and evil, for wherever the searchlight of intellectual inquiry and investigation is turned, the darkness of past false beliefs will vanish. One great thoughtful man in medicine may do great things but the combined efforts of thousands of earnest physicians seeking after knowledge and truth can accomplish results. These results can be brought about by only great efforts on the part of every individual physician by being magnanimous to our fellow men, shunning as we would deadly serpents the tendency of backbiting our neighbors and especially our brothers in the profession, we all need a great deal more of Christ's spirit to help us root out the wicked envy and jealousy indulged in by some medical men.

The noblest profession can be corrupted by the weakness, hypocrisy and charlatanism of a few members so that its name and face can hardly be recognized. It is then the duty of every true lover of the noble science of medicine to give his best brains and truest manhood to cleansing it of its weaknesses, always endeavoring to promote a spirit of progress by encouraging peace, concord and professional consideration among its members.

"We need a little more confidence and respect for ourselves and our calling, in a little more tolerance for our fellow workers, and a recognition of this all important fact, that the public will trust and respect us only to the extent and respect to which we trust and respect each other—this is the secret of a new era of professional fraternity."
